On Friday, after having our breakfast, we went to the market, which is near the hospital in the city. I had not been to the market for two years and I saw that it had changed a lot. I enjoyed shopping and talking to the shopkeepers. There were many people and children moving in and out of different shops. Some children were just sitting and eating while their mothers were busy buying things. A few children were sitting on benches and talking. Some shopkeepers were dealing with customers and some were cleaning their shops. One small boy was near the main gate looking at the colourful clothes in the shop.

G. Write a short letter to your friend asking him to lend you his storybook. Follow the conventions of writing an informal letter. Mention the name of the book and why you want to read it.
