ACTIVE ENGLISH
Teachers’ Notes
Book 4

D.H. HOWE

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
General Introduction

Book 4 and the accompanying Workbook and Teachers’ Notes are intended for use in the fifth year of the primary school. At the same time previous work is revised. Revision is in fact a feature of this course. The first eight pages of the main book are devoted to the revision of vocabulary and language structures taught in the previous year. Throughout the book new items taught are revised systematically and there is also a good deal of ‘built-in’ revision.

The year’s work includes the following:

Oral Work

VOCABULARY. The entire list is given at the end of the Teachers’ Notes.

LANGUAGE STRUCTURES. All the items are thoroughly taught and revised as well as some other less important constructions.

Reading

The Introductory Book provided incidental exposure to the printed words and some very elementary phonics – the association of letters or groups of letters with particular sounds as an aid to reading. This was continued in Book 1 with more practice using the Look and Say approach and more examples of phonics. In Book 2 the two approaches continued side by side and by the end of the year the pupils should have been firmly on the road to reading accurately and fluently. Book 3 consolidated and expanded upon this by providing three kinds of reading material: sentence patterns (already practised orally); practice with more advanced examples of phonics; passages for comprehension practice. Books 4 and 5 provide more passages for comprehension practice followed by objective type questions. ‘True or Untrue?’ type questions are also included since they make possible a thorough test of understanding within a small space. The subject matter is varied and is intended to stimulate reading for pleasure and information. Many of the passages promote a sense of social responsibility.

Writing

All exercises should be worked through orally at first. The teacher should use his or her discretion as to which exercises should also be written out, as time permits. The Workbooks provide additional controlled practice in the use in writing of items dealt with in the main book.
Method

General Principles

1. The aim is to produce good language habits so that the pupils use English correctly.
2. This is done by practice, not explanation.
3. Practice should first be oral – listening and speaking. Reading and writing follow afterwards. Pupils first hear a new item – a word or a structure. Then they speak it. Then they read it. Finally they write it.
4. Language items must be carefully chosen and presented one at a time. A lesson should not be overloaded: one new sentence pattern or four or five new words in one lesson is quite enough.
5. Vocabulary should not be taught as single words but as part of sentences so that the pupils have practice in using the word, not simply trying to remember it.
6. Constant revision is essential. Revision has been built into this course but the teacher should provide additional revision of those items known to have given difficulty.

Teaching New Items

Presenting and practising a new item, whether it is vocabulary or sentence pattern, can be thought of in four stages.

Stage 1: Listening. The teacher speaks the new item several times until the pupils’ ears have become familiar with the new sound pattern. This should be spoken accurately but naturally, care being given not only to the pronunciation of particular sounds but also to the stress and intonation pattern of the whole sentence. The sentences must be spoken as one unit, not a number of separate words. It is particularly important that the pupils should recognize the words or syllables which receive the main stress (see Lesson Teaching Notes). While this is being done, the meaning should be made clear by any convenient means. In the early stages, real objects or classroom situations should be used whenever possible. Pictures, blackboard drawings, gestures, actions, etc. may also be used.

Stage 2: Imitation. The pupils now repeat the item after the teacher until they are all able to reproduce the sequence of sounds with reasonable fluency. Chorus work is essential if pupils are to get enough practice but this must be firmly controlled by the teacher to avoid chanting. This can be avoided if the pupils are made (a) to speak quietly and (b) to stress only the words or syllables that require emphasis (see Lesson Teaching Notes). The teacher may find it useful to control the pupils’ speech by suitable gestures. Chorus work may be done first with the whole class, and then with smaller groups. Finally, individual practice should be given, particularly to the weaker pupils.

While this is going on, the meaning of the item should continue to be made clear as described above.

Stage 3: Controlled practice. The teacher now gradually withdraws help. The pupils are asked to use the item, again in groups or as individuals, in response to cues given by the teacher. The teacher signals to the class what to say by pointing to an object or picture, making a gesture or a remark or asking a question. Pupils then produce the appropriate response.

Stage 4: Extended practice. Whenever possible, the pupils should now be encouraged to use the item without any help from the teacher. This should take the form of controlled conversation. This may be between individuals (for example, a conversation chain around the class), between groups, or between individuals or groups and the teacher.

Note:
If this procedure is carried out properly, very few mistakes should occur. If at any stage an unreasonable number of mistakes are made, this means that the previous stage was not practised thoroughly enough, and should be repeated.
English is not taught by correcting mistakes. The whole point of this method is to give pupils controlled practice in using English correctly.

Do's and Don'ts for Teachers

1. When giving the model, (Stage 1), DO speak clearly, but naturally, and at a normal speed. DON’T slow down. DON’T speak one word at a time.
2. DO make sure that all pupils take part. DON’T forget to check individual pupils.
3. DO make sure that the meaning of the construction is always clear.
4. DO keep to the lesson. DON’T introduce new words from future lessons.
5. DON’T talk too much. The more English used by the pupils, the more successful the lesson.
6. DON’T continue an activity too long. Young children quickly lose interest.
7. DON’T explain ‘grammar’. The aim is to teach pupils to use grammatical constructions, not to talk about them.
8. DON’T explain the meanings of words, if this can possibly be avoided. Show them the meaning, and give them practice in using the words.
9. DO prepare your lessons. This will take only a few minutes, using the brief Teachers’ Notes. An unprepared lesson is seldom successful.
10. DO give pronunciation guidance when necessary. Some help is given in the Teachers’ Notes.
11. DO make sure that all pupils get enough practice.
12. DON’T ask your pupils to spell out words. Learn words by using them orally, and then seeing them in print.
13. DO remember that teaching and testing are two different things.
14. DO remember the importance of revision.
15. DO try to make your lessons interesting and enjoyable. The pupils will learn more in a shorter time.

Speech Guide

Some teachers may welcome a little guidance on pronunciation, stress and intonation. This is given at the foot of the Lesson Notes. It has been made as simple as possible since it is intended only as a reminder of the major points, and for reference in cases of doubt. The following symbols are used:

STRESS. Syllables on which a main stress falls are printed in capitals.

This is a BOOK.
This is a PEN.

No attempt is made to show lesser stresses. When phonemic symbols are used, the main stress is shown by ðis iz ‘buk

INTONATION. Again this is made as simple as possible. Rising and falling arrows are placed before the syllable to which they refer. The important point to remember is that after the falling and rising arrows, the tone continues in this direction until the end of the sentence, or until another arrow shows a change of tone.

Note:
The purpose of the revision exercises is to revise the most important constructions dealt with in Book 3. It is for the teacher to decide how long should be spent on these exercises. They should all be worked orally. If a particular exercise is found to be easy, it can be gone through quite quickly. When a class experiences difficulty with an exercise, it can be repeated and, if necessary, used for written work as well. Normally, however, these exercises are designed to be done orally only. The Workbook provides some written revision exercises.

Answers to Exercises

Exercise 1:

a. I am _____ years old.
b. Next year I shall be _____ years old.
c. I am _____ feet _____ inches tall.
d. Next year I shall be _____ feet _____ inches tall.
e. My friend is _____ years old.
f. My friend will be _____ years old next year.
g. My friend is _____ feet _____ inches tall.
h. My friend will be _____ feet _____ inches tall next year.

Exercise 2:

a. ‘Will you give me a ruler, please?’ ‘Yes, here it is!’

b. ‘Will you give me some books, please?’ ‘Yes, here they are!’

c. ‘Will you give me some ink, please?’ ‘Yes, here it is!’

d. ‘Will you give me a glass, please?’ ‘Yes, here it is!’

e. ‘Will you give me some eggs, please?’ ‘Yes, here they are!’

f. ‘Will you give me some milk, please?’ ‘Yes, here it is!’

g. ‘Will you give me a hammer, please?’ ‘Yes, here it is!’

h. ‘Will you give me some nails, please?’ ‘Yes, here they are!’

i. ‘Will you give me some paint, please?’ ‘Yes, here it is!’

   g. Miss Jan told Dina to switch off the radio.  h. The man told the children not to be afraid.

Exercise 8:
   a. _____ is the tallest girl in the school.  b. _____ is the tallest boy in the school.
   c. _____ is the oldest boy in my class.  d. _____ is the oldest girl in my class.
   e. _____ is the youngest boy in my class.  f. _____ is the youngest girl in my class.
   g. _____ is taller than I am.  h. _____ is younger than I am.
   i. _____ is older than I am.  j. _____ is shorter than I am.
Exercise 9:
   a. David has more oranges than Robin. Robin has fewer oranges than David.
   b. Ann has more water than Betty. Betty has less water than Ann.
   c. Jack has more dogs than John. John has fewer dogs than Jack.
   e. The boys have more ink than the girls. The girls have less ink than the boys.

Exercise 10:
Some possibilities are:
   A bus is not as fast/big/long as a train.
   A bus is not as fast/big/long as an aeroplane.
   A car is as fast as a train.
   A car is not as big/long as a train.
   A car is not as fast/big/long as an aeroplane.
   A pencil is as big/thick/long as a pen.
   A newspaper is not as thick as a book.
   An orange is as big as an apple.
   A bird is not as fast/big as a train.
   A bird is not as fast/big as an aeroplane.
   A bird is not as big as a dog.

Exercise 11:
Note: All sentences must begin with either: Mary works... or Mary doesn’t work... or The boys work... or The boys don’t work... All combinations are possible.

Exercise 12:
Some possibilities are:
   1. I feel hungry. Let’s have something to eat.
   2. I feel thirsty. Let’s have a drink.
   3. I feel tired. Let’s have a rest.
   4. I feel tired. Let’s go to bed.
   5. I feel tired. Let’s go home.
   6. I feel sleepy. Let’s go to bed.
   7. I feel sleepy. Let’s go home.
   8. I feel hot. Let’s have a rest.
   9. I feel hot. Let’s have a drink.
   10. I feel hot. Let’s go inside.
   11. I feel cold. Let’s go inside.
   12. I feel cold. Let’s go home.

Exercise 13:
   a. He has already cleaned it.
   b. She has already written it.
   c. They have already done it.
   d. He has already bought some.
   e. He has already sold it.
   f. She has already taken it.

Exercise 14:
Note: The answers suggested are the most likely but individual pupils may truthfully give different answers.
   c. Yes, I have often read a book.
   d. No, I have never written a book.  e. No, I have never driven a motor car.  f. Yes, I have often seen lightning.  g. Yes, I have often heard thunder.  h. No, I have never seen a tiger in the street.

Exercise 15:

c. Yes, I've just finished it.  d. No, but I've almost reached it.  e. No, but I've almost finished it.  f. Yes, I've just finished it.

Exercise 16:

Note: only answers that make good sense should be accepted.

Exercise 17:

Some possibilities are:

1. Please pick up the books. I have already picked them up.
2. Please pick up your hat. I have already picked it up.
3. Please pick up the balloon. I have already picked it up.
4. Please switch on the light. I have already switched it on.
5. Please switch off the light. I have already switched it off.
6. Please switch out the light. I have already switched it out.
7. Please put on your hat. I have already put it on.
8. Please put off the light. I have already put it off.
9. Please put out the light. I have already put it out.
10. Please put away the books. I have already put them away.
11. Please blow out the light. I have already blown it out.
12. Please blow up the balloon. I have already blown it up.
13. Please take off your hat. I have already taken it off.
14. Please take away the books. I have already taken them away.

Exercise 18:

a. John has stopped laughing.  b. The boys have stopped talking.  c. Ann has stopped reading.  d. The bus has stopped moving.  e. The girls have stopped writing.  f. The dogs have stopped fighting.

Exercise 19:

a. I like walking but I don't like running.  b. I like talking but I don't like singing.  c. I like playing but I don't like working.  d. I like running but I don't like jumping.  e. I like drawing but I don't like painting.  f. I like swimming but I don't like dancing.

Exercise 20:

a. 1. He liked it, didn’t he? Yes, he did.
   2. She didn’t like it, did she? No, she didn’t.
3. They helped him, didn’t they? Yes, they did.

Teaching Notes
Demonstrate the sentence in Exercise 1. First the teacher makes the suggestions and replies, the pupils repeating after her, and then carries out the action. Then the teacher makes the suggestions to the pupils who reply either in a group or individually. Finally the pupils should be able to use the dialogue in pairs. Now introduce the expressions in Exercise 2. Read Exercise 1 on Page 9. Then read Exercise 2, letting groups of pupils or individuals read the suggestions and the replies.

Group A: Shall I open the window?
Group B: Yes, please.
Group C: Shall I open the door?
Group B: Yes, please.

Go through Exercise 3 orally several times until all the pupils have taken part.

Comprehension Passage: The Present Shop. Each chapter in this book contains at least one comprehension passage designed to give the pupils practice in intensive reading. Each passage contains examples of the language structure item being taught in the rest of the chapter. There is more than one way of dealing with a comprehension passage and teachers must decide which method is best suited to the passage, and to their children. The following points, therefore, are merely suggestions.

It is not advisable to begin the lesson by asking pupils to read aloud. They cannot be expected to read aloud until they understand what they are reading. The lesson may begin with the teacher reading the passage to the children in such a way as to bring out the meaning. This is probably the best way of beginning the lesson if the teacher thinks that the class is going to find the passage difficult. Alternatively the teacher may give the children time to read the passage silently themselves, after which the teacher may then read the passage to the children or may begin discussion.

The next step is for the teacher to go through the passage with the children to make sure the passage is understood by discussion, anticipating difficulties and asking as many questions as necessary. Questions should be general at first to see if the main ideas have been understood, and then more detailed questions may be asked. Not until then should the questions in the book be attempted. They should be answered orally at first, and then, if the teacher wishes and if time permits, they may be answered in writing.

Reading aloud, as we have stated before, should not be attempted until this stage of the lesson has been reached. Reading aloud is a useful exercise since it enables the teacher to check the pupils’ pronunciation and, indeed, understanding. However, it is by no means essential and may be omitted altogether.

Exercise 5 and 6 should be gone through orally until as many pupils as possible have taken part.

Exercise 7 deals with a common pronunciation difficulty, confusion between the short sound /i/ as in it, and the long sound /i:/ as in eat. This exercise follows the same pattern throughout much of the book. It is divided into three parts:
a. Here the sound is introduced in pairs of words to show that if the sound is pronounced wrongly the word has a different meaning. The teacher should read these words several times while the pupils listen.

b. The next stage is listening practice. This is most important. Most pronunciation difficulties begin with the pupils’ failing to hear the differences in sounds. There are several ways in which Exercise b can be used for listening practice. For example, the teacher may write the words on the board and put a letter or number over each column. The first column, which contains the short sound it, sit, etc., can be given the number 1, and the second column, with the long sound eat, seat, etc., can be labelled number 2. The third column is labelled 1 again. The teacher then reads out a word and the pupils have to say, or write down, the column in which the word occurred. Another method is for the teacher to dictate words to the class in any order, the pupils writing out the words in full. Another way is for the teacher to read out the words in any order, calling upon individual pupils to repeat the words. (Since they do not know which words to expect, they will have to listen very carefully.) The rest of the class can be asked to judge whether the imitation was correct or not. Exercise b can then be used for practice in producing the correct sounds, the pupils reading the words across the page. The words are arranged in such a way as to be self-correcting. For example, the pupil is called upon to read it - eat - it. If, as it is likely, he mispronounces the first word as eat, he then sees his mistake when he pronounces the second word in the same way. This gives him an opportunity to correct his pronunciation when he comes to the word it for the second time.

c. Exercise c. is a similar exercise to b. except that this time the pairs of words occur in sentences. This exercise can be used for more listening practice, if time permits, by writing them on the board and numbering them, or they can simply be used for reading practice. In some chapters there are additional sentences for reading practice only.

Speech Guide

1. The sound /i/ and /i:/ give rise to both kinds of error. A long sound is sometimes wrongly shortened, while a short sound is sometimes wrongly lengthened. Be on the lookout for these mistakes throughout the lesson, particularly with the following words:
   - Please /pliːz/ clean /kliːn/ sweep (swi:p) ice cream /ˈaɪskrɪm inside/in’ said/
   - window/ˈwɪndəʊ/ ring/rin/ it/it/

2. Notice the stress and intonation pattern. The question does not begin with a question word; it expects the answer ‘Yes’ or ‘No’.
Shall I open the WINdow? YES, please.
THANK you.

Answers to Exercises

Exercise 3:

a. No, let’s not go by train. Let’s go by bus.
b. No, let’s not go by taxi. Let’s go by train.
c. No, let’s not go on Friday. Let’s go on Saturday.
d. No, let’s not go to Sialkot. Let’s go to Sukkur.
e. No, let’s not cross the road. Let’s stay on this side.
f. No, let’s not have a cup of tea. Let’s have a cup of coffee.
g. No, let’s not spend all our money. Let’s keep some.
h. No, let’s not buy an ice cream. Let’s buy some sweets.
i. No, let’s not have a swim. Let’s have rest.
j. No, let’s not go to Malir. Let’s go home.

Exercise 4:

Notes: Short answers should always be accepted but for teachers who prefer the children to answer in full sentences, these are given in brackets.

a. Presents. (The shop sells presents.)
b. Uzma. (Uzma wants to go inside the shop.)
c. Zia. (Zia wants to buy a warm jacket.)
d. A sari. (Zeb wants to buy a sari.)
e. A ring. (Omer first wanted to buy a ring.)
f. No, they were not. (The diamonds were not real.)
g. Zia. (Zia wanted to buy a table.)
h. Bamboo. (It was made of bamboo.)
i. A birdcage. (It looked like a birdcage.)
j. No. (The flowers were not real.)

Workbook 4, Page 5:

2. Shall we go for a swim or shall we have a picnic.
3. Shall we go today or shall we go tomorrow?

Teaching Notes

For the comprehension passage, please see the notes on Chapter 1. Question 1, true and untrue answers, should not be attempted until the passage has been thoroughly discussed.

Exercise 2 should be worked orally. The teacher first provides examples for the pupils to imitate. Then the pupils produce their own. Exercise 3 should be worked orally at first and may then be used as a written exercise if time permits.

The punctuation passage, Exercise 4, should be read aloud by the teacher first, several times if necessary, so as to bring out the meaning. It may then be written on the board, the pupils taking it in turn to supply the punctuation, the teacher helping and explaining. The correct version can then be copied out by the class. In later Chapters, or with better classes, it may not be necessary to write the passage on the blackboard. The teacher can prepare it orally with the class, anticipating any difficulties and explaining. The pupils then write out the passage. Whichever method is used, the important thing to remember is that there should be enough preparation to prevent mistakes. As with all language work, the pupils do not benefit by making mistakes for the teacher to correct. The aim is to practise correct English and to avoid mistakes.

For exercise 5, please see the notes to Exercise 7 in Chapter 1.

Exercise 6, Revision, should be worked orally.

Workbook 4

Speech Guide

The difference between men and man, /men/ and /maen/ is mainly a question of opening the mouth wider for the /ae/ sound. The /e/ sound is made with the mouth slightly open, almost in a smiling position. Pupils tend to make both sounds like this. In Exercise 6, Revision, do not let them say /ket/ for /kaet/ kep/ for /kaep/ or /dzekit/ for /dzaekit/.

Teaching Notes

Read the dialogue with the children. For a second or third reading different pupils can read the parts of Kamran and Mahmud.

Go through Exercise 1 to 3 orally in the usual way. Exercise 1 is suitable for written work if the teacher wishes.

Read Exercise 4 with the pupils in the same way. The pupils can take the parts of Mahmud and Kamran and the teacher, or a very good pupil, the part of the Radio Announcer.

Exercise 5 should first be practised as a dialogue between the teacher and individual pupils, the teacher asking the question and the pupils replying. Further practice may be given in pairs, either two at a time with the whole class listening, or allow the whole class to work in pairs, with the teacher walking around and supervising.

Exercise 6 is worked in the usual way. See notes to Chapter 1 if you are in doubt.

Exercise 7 should be worked orally.

_for Workbook 4, Pages 8-9:_

This can be given for homework but, if so, oral preparation is suggested.

Teaching Notes
Lead the pupils to an understanding of the passage in the usual way.
Exercise 2, 3 and 4 are conversation exercises. In each case at first the teacher should say the first half and the pupils reply. Then the pupils should be allowed to work in pairs.
Exercises 3 and 4 should be practised until the pupils know the conversation by heart. In Exercise 4, the pupils may use other words in place of car.

Workbook 4  Pages 10-11

Speech Guide
In making the sounds /d/ and /t/, the speech organs of the mouth are in the same position. The only difference is that for the /t/ sound, the vocal cords are relaxed and for the /d/ sound, the vocal cords are tightened to produce a slight vibration.
Notice the stress and intonation of the conversation in Exercise 3. Remember that when a word is repeated it is usually unstressed.

Teaching Notes

Work Exercises 2, 3 and 4 orally, repeating them until no mistakes are made. Then practise the conversation in Exercise 5. At first the teacher reads the part of A and chooses a pupil to reply. Pupils may use any of the words given. The exercise may then become a chain conversation. The teacher calls upon one pupil to begin. He takes the part of A and directs the question to any pupil of his own choice, who has to answer. This pupil then asks a second pupil, also answers. It is then the turn of the second pupil to put the question to another pupil, and so on. When the children become proficient in this, they may be allowed to provide their own answers.

Language Structure

too ... to

New Words
discover, discovery, engine, sail (n. & v.), believe, break, shore, tiny, bow, arrow, shoot, platform, customer, dozen.

Teaching Notes
Teach the structure too ... to using classroom objects or blackboard pictures e.g.

The box is too big to go into the desk.
The desk is too heavy to lift.
The tea is too hot to drink.

Then work Exercise 2 orally until the pupils are able to produce this structure without error.
Then practise the structure in Exercise 3 using classroom situations:
The desk is too heavy for me to lift.
The ceiling is too high for John to touch.

Then practise the sentences in Exercise 3. Every combination makes good sense. Work Exercise 4 orally and then, if time permits, and the teacher thinks it necessary, this exercise may be used for written practice, but note that the workbook also provides written practice.

Exercise 5 provides plenty of material for listening practice in this common speech difficulty (see Speech Guide below). For speaking practice, the pupils should read across the page.

Exercise 6 should be learnt by heart if time permits. If not, several readings with different pupils taking the parts of the Customer and Shopkeeper will be found beneficial.

Workbook 4 Pages 18-19

Speech Guide

In making the /θ/ sound, place the tip of the tongue lightly against the edge of the upper front teeth and blow. If special difficulty is met with, it may be found useful to exaggerate this at first by placing the tongue between the front teeth. Both /θ/ and /t/ sounds are unvoiced: that is to say, the vocal cords are open and there is no vibration.

The /θ/ and /d/ sounds are made in the same way as /θ/ and /t/ except that /θ/ and /d/ are voiced: the vocal cords vibrate.

CHAPTER 10 Pages 36-39

Language Structure

The Passive (without agent)

New Words

skin, wrap, warmth, fur, important, reason, wild, taste, way, spark, heater, gas, electricity, daily, loaf, loaves.

Teaching Notes

Please note that all the exercises in this chapter practise the use of the passive without the agent: we are not told who performs the action. This is the most common and useful work of the passive. We often want to refer to an action when we do not know who performs it or it is not important. In sentences of this kind we often use the word someone as in Exercises 3 and 5 or they as in Exercise 4.

All exercises should be worked orally.

Exercise 2 is meant to practise the different tenses of the passive and Exercises 3, 4 and 5 demonstrate its use. Exercise 6 practises agreement between subject and verb when using the passive.

Exercise 7 practises three different tenses of the passive in one conversation, which should be learnt by heart.

Exercise 8 should first be demonstrated on the board, the pupils providing the punctuation. When the model is complete on the board, and the pupils have had plenty of time to study it, it should be cleaned off. Then the pupils write out the passage with the correct punctuation in their books. Please remember that the aim is, as always, to anticipate and avoid mistakes. If no pupil makes a single mistake, the teacher has been completely successful.

Workbook 4 Page 22-23

As in all workbook exercises, all the words have been prepared in class.
However, some of the verb forms used in the passive do give a great deal of difficulty to learners of English, and teacher may be well advised to go through Pages 22-23 orally several times before the pupils do the work in writing.

Speech Guide

The /f/ and /v/ sounds in Exercise 9 are another common difficulty. The /f/ sound is unvoiced and the /v/ sound is voiced. Teachers can demonstrate the difference very simply by asking the pupils to place their fingers lightly on their throats. The vibration that takes place when the sound is voiced can be easily felt.

Answers to Exercises

Exercise 1:

  a. hot countries  b. to keep people warm  c. cook food  d. two pieces of wood  e. matches

Exercise 3:

  a. The clock was broken.  b. The car was sold.  c. The pen was mended.  d. The food was cooked.  e. The windows were broken.  f. The cakes were burnt.  g. The money was lost.  h. The rupees were found.  i. The chalk was dropped.  j. The door was closed.

Workbook 4, Pages 22-23:

CHAPTER 11 Pages 40-43

Language Structure

what to do, etc.

New Words

destroy, life, cause, wire, allow, parent, rescue, ambulance, passage, healthy, health, strength, tell, weekly, order.

Teaching Notes

Since this structure is mainly a question of using the right form rather than understanding the meaning, classroom demonstration is not essential.

Exercises 1 to 7 should be worked orally and Exercises 6 and 7 are particularly useful as written exercises, if time permits. The workbook in any case provides more written practice.

The conversation in Exercise 8 should be learnt by heart. As usual at the beginning the teacher should read the part of A and the pupils give the reply of B. The pupils may afterwards work in pairs. Finally, if time permits, the teacher can make up more examples.

Exercise 9 is a particularly useful exercise in comprehension and composition, and will recur throughout this book. Like all exercises it should be worked orally first but may then be used for written work if the teacher wishes.

Workbook 4 Pages 24-25

All combinations are correct but please note that in some cases a question mark is needed.
Speech Guide

Notice the stress and intonation pattern of the conversation in Exercise 8:

Can you tell me what to \text{___} DO?

I’m \text{___} SORry. I \text{___} CAN’T. I don’t \text{___} KNOW what to do.

Exercise 10 practises another very common difficulty. The pupils’ vocabulary at this stage does not make the usual listening discrimination exercises possible as there are not enough suitable words. Exercise b. should therefore be used for repetition by the pupils after the teacher’s reading. The teacher should listen carefully to the pupils’ imitation and correct when necessary. It is useful for this purpose for the pupils to respond first as a class, then in groups, and then as individuals. The simplest way to help pupils to distinguish between these two sounds is to see that for the /\text{v}/ sound the pupils’ teeth rest on the lower lip.

Answers to Exercises

Exercise 1:

CHAPTER 12

Language Structure
He said that…, etc.

New Words
watchman, trick, stupid, really, amusing, boast, rudely, reply, boastful, anger, calmly, guess.

Teaching Notes
Read the dialogue in Exercise 2 and answer the questions in Exercise 3. For further practice, the game can be played again with either the teacher or one of the pupils taking the part of Maruf. The children are not allowed to see what is put in the box and are invited to guess using the construction: I think it's ... When one of the pupils has guessed correctly, the teacher can then ask questions like those in Exercise 3.

Exercise 4, 5 and 6 should be worked orally. Exercises 5 and 6 are particularly suitable for written work if the teacher wishes and if time permits, but please note that the workbook provides more practice.
The punctuation practice in Exercise 7 should be worked as in previous chapters, i.e. first on the board. Pupils should not be allowed to write it out until there is little chance of their making mistakes.

CHAPTER 13  Pages 48-51

Language Structure

Tell me what you want, etc.

New Words

habit, advise, wealth, wise, need, mean, properly, dark, darkness, daylight, exercise (physical), brain, fresh, breathe.

Teaching Notes

Exercise 2 practises the use of a new verb: need. All the other exercises are concerned with one point: the order of subject and verb in indirect questions. These examples will make it clear.

After working Exercise 3 to 6 thoroughly, it should be possible to practise the conversation in Exercise 7 freely around the class.

Workbook 5  Pages 28-29

Page 28 gives plenty of practice in writing of the above point. The punctuation exercise at the top of page 29 should be regarded as a test to enable the teacher to find out the pupils’ difficulties in punctuation. Spaces have been left for... punctuation marks to be inserted, and if mistakes occur they indicate difficulties. More explanation and practice would then need to be provided. The second exercise on page 29 is revision.

Speech Guide

The /z/ sound is often made when /s/ is written. This may happen anywhere in a word. The speech organs are in the same position for both sounds but /s/ is unvoiced and /z/ is voiced. The pupils can feel the difference for themselves by placing the tip of a finger at the front of their throats. They will feel the vibration of the vocal cords when they say a word containing the /z/ sound.

CHAPTER 20 Pages 76-79

Language Structure

Indirect questions with whether/if.

New Words

famous, ever, even, protect, knights, strange, centre, lady, appear, lovely, church, wedding, hall, joy, joyful, boat, truth.

Teaching Notes

Previous chapters dealt with indirect questions which began with a question word: what, how, when, etc. In this chapter the questions do not begin with a question word. They are questions that expect a Yes or No. When they become indirect questions, the order of subject and verb changes as with other indirect questions but we add the word if or whether. If is more common and is used in all exercises in this chapter, but whether may be used in place of if in all examples. Notice the changes but usually a present tense in a direct question becomes a past tense in the indirect form. Notice that in Exercise 2e Do you like, the present tense, becomes he liked, the past tense.

Workbook 4 Pages 42-43

These exercises give practice in all forms of indirect speech which the pupils should be capable of producing at this stage. However, these constructions are not easy and plenty of oral preparation will be necessary.

CHAPTER 21  Pages 80-83

Language Structure  while

New Words  huge, harmless, cobra, deer, butterfly, vulture, bathe, jungle, overhead.

Teaching Notes

Demonstrate the use of while by means of actions performed in the classroom. One action must be continuous, taking place over a period of time during which the other action takes place. For example, one pupil may be told to clean the blackboard, and while he is doing it another pupil is told to shut a window. The teacher then says:

While Omer was cleaning the blackboard, Maruf shut the window.

At first the children imitate the teacher. Then they produce their own sentences in reply to the teacher’s question: What happened?

Workbook 4 Pages 44-45

These two pages revise the use of some and any.

Speech Guide

Earlier chapters have practised the use of the unvoiced sound /t/ and the voiced sound /d/. When these sounds are followed by the letter s, it is pronounced /s/ after /t/ and /z/ after /d/. In other words when the letter before s is unvoiced, s is also unvoiced. When the letter before s is voiced, s also is voiced.

CHAPTER 22 Pages 84-87

Language Structure before and after

New Words goods, motor cycle, daily, die, fault, blame, improve, corner, curve, improvement, flyover, future.

Teaching Notes

Demonstrate the use of before and after using classroom actions. For example a child can be told to close the door and clean the blackboard:

writes /raitz/
rides /raidz/

seats /si:ts/
seeds /si:dz/

Note: As always, plenty of listening practice is recommended.

After he closed the door, he cleaned the blackboard.
He cleaned the blackboard after he closed the door.

Eventually the pupils should be able to produce sentences like these on their own in response to actions performed.

Exercises 6 and 7 are general revision.

Workbook 4 Pages 46-47

Speech Guide

Note the long vowel /:/ in before. Pupils will tend to shorten this and should be corrected. They must say /bif:/ not /bif/.

Exercise 8 practises the /s/ and /z/ sounds after /k/ and /g/. As in the previous chapter, the letter s is unvoiced after the unvoiced consonant /k/, and voiced after the voiced consonant /g/.

What a …!

New Words
rough, deep, shallow, depth, salty, flow, plant, dive, diver, press.

Teaching Notes
Demonstrate What a … by going around the class admiring the children’s position, using sentences like these:

What a nice dress!
What a pretty dress!
What a nice pen!
What a pretty box!

More examples can be provided by using drawing on the black board:

What a big tree!
What a small dog!
What a tall building! etc.

Then get the pupils to produce exclamations like these when the teacher points to a particular object. The pupils can use any suitable adjective: big, nice, pretty, tall, etc.
Now repeat the above using the plural form:

What pretty boxes!
What nice pens!
What big trees! etc.

Do the same with a few examples of uncountable nouns using nice:

What nice fruit!
What nice hair! (e.g. on doll)
What nice tea!

Then work Exercise 3 and 4 orally.
Exercise 5 should be worked orally, and in writing if time permits.

Exercise 6 revises an important construction: verbs which are followed by an infinitive with ‘to’: made him do it, let him come, etc.

Exercise 7 should be worked orally and in writing.

CHAPTER 30

Language Structure General Revision

Teaching Notes

All Exercises should be worked orally at first. Exercise 6 revises a large number of different constructions. It should be worked orally very thoroughly several times. If time permits, and the teachers think that the children need practice, it can then be set as written work. Exercise 7 is similar.

Exercise 8 is an important exercise: it practices the past tense and present tense forms of irregular verbs. Ask the pupils to make sentences beginning: Every day I …, Yesterday I …, and Now I have … . They have to finish the sentences themselves.

Page 62 revises a number of important constructions and page 63 practices the forms of tense of some more irregular verbs.
