General Introduction

Book 5 and the accompanying Workbook and Teachers’ Notes are intended for use in the sixth year of the primary school. At the same time previous work is revised. Revision is in fact a feature of this course, and of this book in particular. The first eleven pages of the main book are devoted to the revision of vocabulary and language structures taught in the previous year. Throughout the book new items taught are revised systematically and there is also a good deal of ‘built-in’ revision. Each Chapter includes a revision section. Important items of vocabulary, grouped under topics, are reviewed and there are also oral exercises revising work done in previous years as well as new work introduced in this book.

Oral Work

VOCABULARY. The entire list is given at the end of the Teachers’ Notes.

LANGUAGE STRUCTURE. All the items are thoroughly taught and revised as well as some other less important constructions.

Reading

The Introductory Book provided incidental exposure to printed words and some very elementary phonics – the association of letters or groups of letters with particular sounds as an aid to reading. This was continued in Book 1 with more practice using the Look and Say approach and more examples of phonics. In Book 2 the two approaches continued side by side and by the end of the year the pupils should have been firmly on the road to reading accurately and fluently. Book 3 consolidates and expands upon this by providing three kinds of reading material: sentence patterns (already practised orally); practice with more advanced examples of phonics; passages for comprehension practice. Books 4 and 5 provide more passages for comprehension practice followed by objective type questions. ‘True or Untrue?’ type questions are also included since they make possible a thorough test of understanding within a small space. The subject matter is varied and is intended to stimulate reading for pleasure and information. Many of the passages have a Pakistani background and are intended to promote a sense of social responsibility.

Writing

All exercises should be worked through orally at first. The teacher should use his or her discretion as to which exercises should also be written out, as time permits. The Workbook provides additional controlled practice in the use in writing of items dealt with in the main book.
Method

General Principles

1. The aim is to produce good language habits so that the pupils use English correctly.
2. This is done by practice, not explanation.
3. Practice should first be oral – listening and speaking. Reading and writing follow afterwards. Pupils first hear a new item – a word or a structure. Then they speak it. Then they read it. Finally they write it.
4. Language items must be carefully chosen and presented one at a time. A lesson should not be overloaded: one new sentence pattern or four or five new words in one lesson is quite enough.
5. Vocabulary should not be taught as single words but as part of sentences so that the pupils have practice in using the word, not simply trying to remember it.
6. Constant revision is essential. Revision has been built into this course but the teacher should provide additional revision of those items known to have given difficulties.

Teaching New Items

Presenting and practising a new item, whether it is vocabulary or a sentence pattern, can be thought of in four stages.

Stage 1: Listening. The teacher speaks the new item several times until the pupils’ ears have become familiar with the new sound pattern. This should be spoken accurately but naturally, care being given not only to the pronunciation of particular sounds but also to the stress and intonation pattern of the whole sentence. The sentences must be spoken as one unit, not a number of separate words. It is particularly important that the pupils should recognise the words or syllables which receive the main stress (see Lesson Teaching Notes). While this is being done, the meaning should be made clear by any convenient means. In the early stages, real objects or classroom situations should be used whenever possible. Pictures, blackboard drawings, gestures, actions, etc. may also be used.

Stage 2: Imitation. The pupils now repeat the item after the teacher until they are all able to reproduce the sequence of sounds with reasonable fluency. Chorus work is essential if pupils are to get enough practice but this must be firmly controlled by the teacher to avoid chanting. This can be avoided if the pupils are made (a) to speak quietly and (b) to stress only the words or syllables that require emphasis (see Lesson Teaching Notes). The teacher may find it useful to control the pupils’ speech by suitable gestures. Chorus work may be done first with the whole class, and then with smaller groups. Finally, individual practice should be given, particularly to the weaker pupils.

While this is going on, the meaning of the item should continue to be made clear as described above.

Stage 3: Controlled practice. The teacher now gradually withdraws help. The pupils are asked to use the item, again in groups or as individuals, in response to cues given by the teacher. The teacher signals to the class what to say by pointing to an object or picture, making a gesture or a remark or asking a question. Pupils then produce the appropriate response.

Stage 4: Extended practice. Whenever possible, the pupils should now be encouraged to use the item without any help from the teacher. This should take the form of controlled conversation. This may be between individuals (for example, a conversation chain around the class), between groups, or between individuals or groups and the teacher.

Note:

If this procedure is carried out properly, very few mistakes should occur. If at any stage an unreasonable number of mistakes is made, this means that the previous stage was not practised thoroughly enough, and should be repeated. English is not taught by correcting mistakes. The whole point of this method is to give pupils controlled practice in using English correctly.

Do’s and Don’ts for Teachers

1. When giving the model, (stage 1), DO speak clearly, but naturally, and at a normal speed. DON’T slow down. DON’T speak one word at a time.
2. DO make sure that all pupils take part. DON’T forget to check individual pupils.
3. DO make sure that the meaning of the construction is always clear.
4. DO keep to the lesson. DON’T introduce new words from future lessons.
5. DON’T talk too much. The more English used by the pupils, the more successful the lesson.
6. DON’T continue an activity too long. Young children quickly lose interest.
7. DON’T explain ‘grammar’. The aim is to teach pupils to use grammatical constructions, not to talk about them.
8. DON’T explain the meanings of words, if this can possibly be avoided. Show them the meaning, and give them practice in using the words.
9. DO prepare your lessons. This will take only a few minutes, using the brief Teachers’ Notes. An unprepared lesson is seldom successful.
10. DO give pronunciation guidance when necessary. Some help is given in the Teachers’ Notes.
11. DO make sure that all pupils get enough practice.
12. DON’T ask your pupils to spell out words. Learn words by using them orally, and then seeing them in print.
13. DO remember that teaching and testing are two different things.
14. DO remember the importance of revision.
15. DO try to make your lessons interesting and enjoyable. The pupils will learn more in a shorter time.

Speech Guide

Some teachers may welcome a little guidance on pronunciation, stress and intonation. This is given at the foot of the Lesson Notes. It has been made as simple as possible since it is intended only as a reminder of the major points, and for reference in cases of doubt. The following symbols are used.

STRESS. Syllables on which a main stress falls are printed in capitals.

This is a BOOK.
This is a PEN.

No attempt is made to show lesser stresses. When phonetic symbols are used, the main stress is shown by ðis iz ə ‘buk

INTONATION. Again this is made as simple as possible. Rising and falling arrows are placed before the syllable to which they refer. The important point to remember is that after the falling and rising arrows, the tone continues in this direction until the end of the sentence, or until another arrow shows a change of tone.

This is a ɣ BOOK.
This is an um ɣ BRELLa.
Is this a ʃ BOOK?

Note:
The purpose of the revision exercises is to revise the most important constructions dealt with in Book 4. It is for the teacher to decide how long should be spent on these exercises. They should all be worked orally. If a particular exercise is found to be easy, it can be gone through quite quickly. When a class experiences difficulty with an exercise, it can be repeated and, if necessary, used for written work as well. Normally, however, these exercises are designed to be done orally only. The Workbook provides some written revision exercises.

Pages 1-7

Answers to Exercises

Exercise 1:
   a. ‘Shall we go by train?’ ‘No, let’s go by bus.’ b. ‘Shall we go on Saturday?’ ‘No, let’s go on Sunday.’ c. ‘Shall we have a cup of tea?’ ‘No, let’s have a cup of coffee.’ d. ‘Shall we have a swim?’ ‘No, let’s have a rest.’ e. ‘Shall we listen to the radio?’ ‘No, let’s watch television.’ f. ‘Shall we go for a walk?’ ‘No, let’s play football.’ g. ‘Shall we spend our money?’ ‘No, let’s keep it.’ h. ‘Shall we sit down?’ ‘No, let’s stand up.’ i. ‘Shall we buy an orange?’ ‘No, let’s buy an apple.’

Exercise 2:
   a. … like a fish. b. … like the wind. c. … like a monkey. d. … like horses. e. … like a bird. f. … like a baby.

Exercise 3:
   A tree is like a bush but it’s bigger.
   A kitten is like a cat but it’s smaller.
   A cigar is like a cigarette but it’s bigger.
   A horse is like a donkey but it’s bigger.
   A forest is like a wood but it’s bigger.
   A river is like a stream but it’s bigger.

   Note: If more practice is required, the order of the words may be changed, e.g.
   A bush is like a tree but it’s smaller.

Exercise 4:
Some possibilities:
1. Picture A is the same as Picture B.
   Picture A is different from Picture C.
2. Picture A is the same as Picture D.
   Picture A is different from Picture E.
3. Picture A is the same as Picture H.
   Picture A is different from Picture F.
4. Picture B is the same as Picture D.
   Picture A is different from Picture G.
5. Picture B is the same as Picture H.
   Picture A is different from Picture I.
6. Picture C is the same as Picture I.
   Picture A is different from Picture J.
7. Picture C is the same as Picture J.
   Picture B is different from Picture C.
8. Picture D is the same as Picture H.
   Picture B is different from Picture E.
9. Picture E is the same as Picture F.
   Picture B is different from Picture F.
10. Picture E is the same as Picture G.
    Picture B is different from Picture G.

Exercise 5:

a. I'm not sure. I may swim or I may not.
b. I'm not sure. The bus may be full or it may not.
c. I'm not sure. The shop may be closed or it may not.
d. I'm not sure. I may leave school or I may not.
e. I'm not sure. I may go to the cinema or I may not.
f. I'm not sure. It may be hot tomorrow or it may not.
g. I'm not sure. The cyclone may hit Hong Kong or it may not.
h. I'm not sure. I may go to school or I may not.
i. I'm not sure. Omer may help me or he may not.
j. I'm not sure. I may buy it or I may not.

Exercise 6:

Note: Probable answers are given but they may vary with individual pupils.

b. Have you ever been on a train? Yes, I’ve often been on a train.
c. Have you ever been in an aeroplane? No, I’ve never been in an aeroplane.
d. Have you ever swum in the sea? Yes, I’ve often swum in the sea.
e. Have you ever smoked a cigarette? No, I’ve never smoked a cigarette.
f. Have you ever eaten an orange? Yes, I’ve often eaten an orange.
g. Have you ever read a book? Yes, I’ve often read a book.
h. Have you ever been to Japan? No, I’ve never been to Japan.
i. Have you ever seen a dog? Yes, I’ve often seen a dog.
j. Have you ever driven a car? No, I’ve never driven a car.
k. Have you ever lost any money? No, I've never lost any money. or: Yes, I've often lost some money.

Teaching Notes

Comprehension Passage: ‘The Magic Pear Tree’. Each chapter in this book contains at least one comprehension passage designed to give the pupils practice in intensive reading. Each passage contains examples of the language structure item being taught in the rest of the chapter. There is more than one way of dealing with a comprehension passage and teachers should decide which method is best suited to the passage, and to their children. The following points, therefore, are merely suggestions.

It is not advisable to begin the lesson by asking pupils to read aloud. They cannot be expected to read aloud until they understand what they are reading. The lesson may begin with the teacher reading the passage to the children in such a way as to bring out the meaning. This is probably the best way of beginning the lesson if the teacher thinks that the class is going to find the passage difficult. Alternatively the teacher may give the children time to read the passage silently themselves, after which the teacher may then read the passage to the children or may begin discussion.

The next step is for the teacher to go through the passage with the children, to make sure the passage is understood, by discussion, anticipating difficulties and asking as many questions as necessary. Questions should be general at first to see if the main ideas have been understood, and then more detailed questions may be asked. Not until then should the questions in the book be attempted. They should be answered orally at first, and then, if the teacher wishes and if time permits, they may be answered in writing.

Reading aloud, as we have stated before, should not be attempted until this stage of the lesson has been reached. Reading aloud is a useful exercise since it enables the teacher to check the pupils’ pronunciation and, indeed, understanding. However, it is by no means essential and may be omitted altogether. Demonstrate sentences like those in Exercise 2 by giving pairs of pupils actions to perform at the same time. They must, of course, be actions that continue over a period of time, e.g. cleaning the blackboard, sitting on the desk, drawing on the blackboard, opening all the windows. The teacher can then give models like these:

While Zia was cleaning the blackboard,
Uzma was sitting on the desk.
While Maruf was drawing on the blackboard,
Helen was opening all the windows.
Please note that these sentences should not be spoken until the actions have finished and the pupils have returned to their places, since we are practising the past continuous tense. Eventually the pupils should be able to produce sentences of their own on this model.

Then work Exercises 2 and 3 orally. These exercises may also be given as written work if the teacher wishes and thinks that it is necessary, but please note that Workbook 5, Page 8 also gives written practice in this construction.

Exercise 4, the punctuation passage, should be worked on the board first. The pupils can take it in turns to add the punctuation and capital letters, or tell the teacher what changes should be made. When the passage has been completely punctuated on the board, the pupils should be given time to study it. They may then copy it down or, if the teacher thinks they are capable of doing it correctly, the model can be rubbed off the blackboard and the pupils can write out the passage and punctuate it on their own. Please remember that the object of this exercise, as with all English teaching, is to avoid mistakes. If the pupils are weak at punctuation, it is better for them to copy out the passage rather than make mistakes.

Exercise 5 gives practice in comprehension and composition. It should be worked orally at first. If the teacher wishes, and time permits, the sentences may then be written out by the pupils.

Revision: Each chapter in this book includes several exercises designed to revise work done in previous years as well as new work done in this book. The first exercise in this section is an exercise in vocabulary revision. It contains only words which have previously been taught and which the pupils should know. The words are grouped as far as possible under different topics. In Exercise 6, for example, the words are all concerned in some way with the school. This exercise may be gone through quite quickly when the words are familiar to the pupils. When, however, a word is found to be giving difficulty the teacher first, and then the pupils, should make up examples of sentences which bring out the meaning of the word. This exercise also gives the teacher an opportunity to check the pupils’ pronunciation and spelling.

Other revision exercises should be worked orally but they may be set as written exercises if the teacher thinks it necessary.

Speech Guide

When revising the vocabulary in Exercise 6, special attention should be paid to words which the pupils had difficulty in pronouncing properly. Some words to look out for are:
absent: æbsɔnt  not  ebsɔn cupboard: kʌbɔd  not  kʌpbɔ:
nib: nib  not  ni:b
exercise: eksəsaiz  not  esəsaiz
add: æd  not  ed
measure: meʒə  not  meʃə
bracket: brækit  not  brekit platform: plætɔ:m  not  pletʃə:m
excellent: eksələnt  not  esələnt

Note the stress and intonation patterns of the sentences in Exercise 2 and 3.

While Zohra was  ↗ SLEEPing,

Language Structure
Past perfect tense

New Words
complete, fix, flash (n. & v.), hang, jaw, live (a.), own (a.), pronounce, raise, special, strongly, surprise (n. & v.)

Teaching Notes
Please see Chapter 1 for notes on dealing with the comprehension passage.
Demonstrate sentences like the ones in Exercise 3 by giving a pupil a number of actions to perform in the classroom. The teacher, and later the pupils, can then go through the actions using sentences like these:

\begin{align*}
\text{Peter shuts the door.} \\
\text{After he had shut the door, he opened the window.} \\
\text{After he had opened the window, he cleaned the blackboard.} \\
\text{After he had cleaned the blackboard, he drew a tree on the blackboard.} \\
\text{After he had drawn a tree on the blackboard, he went back to his place.}
\end{align*}

This can be made into a game. A pupil can be given a large number of actions to perform. When he has finished, the pupils take it in turns to describe the actions in the right order as in the examples above. When one pupil makes a mistake, another pupil carries on. In this way, the use of the past perfect tense will be brought out: to emphasize that one action in the past took place before another action also in the past.

Work Exercises 3 and 4 orally. Exercise 4 may also be used for written work if time permits.

Revision exercises should be worked orally. Please see the notes to Chapter 1.

<table>

These multiple choice questions give more practice with the past perfect tense and other tense. Exercises of this kind may be worked orally first, explanation and extra practice being given on points which caused difficulty. Alternatively the questions may be used to diagnose difficulties. The pupils attempt the answers first and the teacher sees from their mistakes where more practice is needed.

Language Structure  whose and where

New Words  aboard, advantage, audience, band (musical), bank (for money), coal, dining room, postage, print (v.), restaurant, secretly, spread, sticky.

Teaching Notes

Please see Chapter 1 for notes on dealing with the comprehension passage.

It is difficult to practise these constructions in a classroom situation. The important point to explain is the way in which whose replaces the possessive pronoun (e.g. Their and His) when the sentences are joined. This is made clear in the examples in Exercise 2 by means of coloured boxes. Teachers may, if they wish, copy those on to the board to help them to explain the points.

The use of where to join sentences is similar but in this case where replaces several words. The examples in Exercise 3 make this clear but again the teacher may wish to use the blackboard.

Exercise 4, punctuation, may be worked on the board as explained in the notes to Chapter 1.

The revision exercises should be worked orally.
If the pupils are able to set all or nearly all of these exercises right, the teacher will know that they have mastered these two constructions.

Speech Guide

Notice the stress and intonation patterns in the examples below. In many cases the voice falls before whose as if at the end of a sentence:

2,200 of the people were passengers, whose rooms were like tool tool rooms.
That is Mary, whose brother we met yesterday
Leave the pen where you found it.

Language Structure

when and until with present tenses for the future

New Words

accept, amusing, boastfully, gladly, joyfully, offer (n. & v.), pity (n.), problem, proudly, puzzle (n. & v.), rather, simple, understand.

Teaching Notes

Work Exercises 3, 4, 5 and 6 orally.

Exercise 7 is a little more difficult than previous exercises of this kind. One suggestion is that pupils be asked to choose the first sentence, which the teacher writes on the board. The pupils are then asked to select the second sentence, which the teacher also writes on the board, and so on until the whole paragraph has been written. In this way mistakes will become obvious.

Workbook 5  Pages 14-15

Page 14 practises the use of the present simple tense for the future after when, until, and before.

Page 15 practises sentences with whose as in the previous lesson.

Teaching Notes
Demonstrate the examples in Exercise 3 by means of sentences like these:

Today is Tuesday, I went to the cinema on Saturday. I did not go to the cinema on Sunday. I did not go to the cinema on Monday. I have not been to the cinema since Saturday.

Today is Tuesday. I saw Mr Jan on Friday. I did not see Mr Jan on Saturday. I did not see Mr Jan on Sunday. I did not see Mr Jan on Monday. I have not seen Mr Jan since Friday.

Try to get your pupils to produce sequences of sentences like these by means of questions, e.g.

Teacher: Mary, when did you do some homework?
Mary: I did some homework last night.
Teacher: Did you do any homework before breakfast this morning?
Mary: No, Miss Jan.
Teacher: Did you do any homework after breakfast this morning?
Mary: No, Miss Jan, I have not done any homework since last night.
Some possibilities may be: eat an orange, go on a picnic, see an aeroplane, play football, etc.

CHAPTER 11   Pages 52-55

Language Structure    watched him move, saw him stop, etc.

New Words    aim, beauty, bitter, choose, disappointment, effort, guide, hire, list, pack, permit, police station, slope, tent, tinned, useless.
Teaching Notes

The purpose of Exercises 3 to 6 is to practise the use of the 'bare' infinitives (infinitives which do not have the word to in front of them) after 'verbs of perception': saw, hurt, watched, felt, and the two verbs made and let. The difference in meaning between I saw him getting into the car and I saw him get into the car is not very great. In the first example we are saying that we saw him while he was getting into the car but we did not necessarily see the whole completed action. When we say: I saw him get into the car, we mean that we saw the whole completed action, i.e. we saw him open the door, get inside, and close the door.

Exercise 3 at the same time compares some verbs which are followed by the infinitives with to. After working Exercise 3 orally teachers may practise conversations like these with the class:

Teacher: ‘John, please close your book.’
Teacher (to pupil): ‘What did I tell John to do?’
Pupil: ‘You told him to close his book.’
Teacher: ‘Did he close it?’
Pupil: ‘Yes, I saw him close it.’

Teacher: ‘Mary, please close the door.’
Teacher (to pupil): ‘What did I tell Mary to do?’
Pupil: ‘You told her to close the door.’
Teacher: ‘Did she do it?’
Pupil: ‘Yes, I heard her do it.’

Here is a suggestion for a game. One pupil is blindfolded and other pupils, at the teacher’s suggestion, perform actions which cause a little noise, e.g. closing the door, opening the window, cleaning the blackboard, dropping a book. Then the pupil’s blindfold is removed and he/she has to say what he/she heard:

I heard someone close the door.
I heard someone open the window.
I heard someone clean the blackboard.
I heard someone drop a book.

A similar game may be played as a memory game without the use of a blindfold. The teacher tells a number of pupils, ten or more, to perform actions. Other pupils then have to say what they saw in the right order:

I saw John stand up.
I saw Mary close her book.
I saw Peter put his pen on the Teacher’s desk. etc.
When one pupil cannot go on any longer, or gets the order of the actions wrong, another pupil takes over.
Then work Exercise 4 to 6 orally.

Workbook 5, Page 30:
   Note: Please note that in every case the verb am, is or was may be included at the end of the sentence or omitted. It is usually better to include it however, particularly in sentences like No. 3, 6 and 11 which may otherwise sound unnatural. In a long sentence like No. 9, the is at the end would usually be omitted but it would not be wrong to include it.
   Putting in the is helps the pupils to avoid ungrammatical sentences like She was less polite than him.
3. She was less successful than he (was). 4. Your chair is less comfortable than mine (is). 5. My dog is less playful than yours (is). 6. She is less forgetful than I (am). 7. That corner is less dangerous than this corner (is). 8. Your teacher is less cheerful than our teacher (is). 9. Travelling by sea is less expensive than travelling by air. 10. His book is less exciting than her book (is). 11. Her sister is less obedient than she (is). 12. Our classroom is less noisy than yours (is).

New Words

central, judge, moist, moisture, monsoon, nephew, New Year, niece, nut, orange (a.), purple, receive, shovel, stool, time, total.

Teaching Notes

Practise either … or … in classroom situations. For example, you may put two objects in a box, perhaps an apple and an orange. Then take out one of the objects holding it between a book so that the pupil cannot see it:

Teacher: ‘What am I holding?’
Pupil: ‘I don’t know, Miss Ali. It’s either an apple or an orange.’

A chain conversation around the class may be practised in this way. Each child offers the next child two objects, e.g. a ruler and a rubber, saying:

You can have either a rubber or a ruler but you can’t have both.

The next child chooses which one he wants and then offers two objects to another child using the same words.

CHAPTER 14

Language Structure

would rather

New Words

behaviour, bracket, breath, cleverly, collection, festival, foreign, foreigner, honey, jealous, love, poem, poetry, pronunciation, rickshaw, shark, spoonful, sport(s), wildly, wisely.

Teaching Notes

Demonstrate the use of would rather by showing the pupils two objects, e.g. an apple and an orange:

Teacher: Would you like an apple?
Pupil: No, thank you. I'd rather have an orange.

Teacher then gives the orange to the pupil. Teacher continues this until a number of pupils have a number of objects. The pupils can then practise the conversation among themselves:

Pupil A: Would you like a pencil?
Pupil B: No, thank you. I'd rather have a book.

Note: It is better to use the short form I'd rather than the full written form I would rather, although the teacher may use the full written form if he or she prefers it.

Then work Exercises 2a and 2b. The pupils should then be encouraged to ask each other questions like the ones in 2b and to give truthful answers.

Work Exercise 3a. The pupils may decide their own answers. Then practise questions and answers of the same kind.

Practise the dialogue in Exercise 4 until all pupils know it by heart. When doing this, the pupil reading the part of A should be holding two objects, e.g. two oranges, two pencils, two rubbers, etc.

Speech Guide

Notice that in sentences like those in Exercises 2a and 2b, the main stress falls on the last word:
Would you like an Apple?
I’d rather have an Orange.

Note the stress and intonation pattern in Exercise 3:

Would you rather have a Peanut or a Banana?
I’d rather have a Peanut than a banana.

CHAPTER 15  Pages 68-71

Language Structure  Passive with agent

New Words  clip, coward, curtain, freedom, govern, hope, railing, sadly, scratch, spider, swing, use, web
Teaching Notes

The Passive without the agent was introduced in Book 4 in sentences like these:

The window was broken.
The money has been stolen.

In this use we either do not know who performs the action or it is not important. We are now going to practise the use of the Passive in which the person who performs the action is stated. At the same time you are going to revise the different tense forms of the Passive.

Before working the exercises the teacher can demonstrate this construction by telling the pupils to perform a number of actions in the classroom which can be described in sentences like these:

The blackboard was cleaned by Zia.
The window was opened by Uzma.
The picture was drawn by Susan.

This can be developed into a memory game in which a number of pupils perform actions. When they have finished, other pupils try to remember who performed which action, and to say so using sentences like the ones above.

Work Exercise 2 to 4 orally. Exercise 5 should be worked orally at first, but may then be used as a revision exercise.

Workbook 5

Pages 36-37

Page 36 practises the use of the Passive with the agent and Page 37 revises verb tenses.

Speech Guide

Remember the three different pronunciations of ed in past participles:

ed equals /t/: clapped, asked, knocked, ached.
ed equals /d/: lived, begged, cried, answered.
ed equals /id/: painted, acted, added, posted.

CHAPTER 16  Pages 72-75

Language Structure  wish

New Words  darling, fee, fairy, loincloth, lotus, pink, window.

Teaching Notes
This chapter practises the use of the past form after wish. After working each group of sentences in Exercise 3, give the pupils practice in making up their own sentences on the same pattern. For example after Exercise 3 let the pupils first practise making sentences on their own beginning: I wish I could …, then practise sentences beginning: I wish someone could …

Exercise 4 practises a common difficulty: the use of the past form after wish, but the present form after hope.

Language Structure

needn't

New Words

ashamed, candy, curry, custom, prayer, shy, sweetmeat, tray.

Teaching Notes

Work Exercises 2 to 4 orally. Then practise questions and answers like those in Exercise 4. Each pupil asks a question of the next pupil who may reply using Yes, you must … or No, you needn’t … The pupil who asks the question obeys the instruction:

1st Pupil (to 2nd Pupil): Must I open my desk?
2nd Pupil: Yes, you must open your desk.
(1st Pupil opens his desk).

2nd Pupil (to 3rd Pupil): Must I close my book?
3rd Pupil: No, you needn’t close your book.
(2nd Pupil does not close her book.)

3rd Pupil (to 4th Pupil): Must I comb my hair?
(and so on)

Then work Exercise 5 orally.

Workbook 5

Pages 40-41

Page 40 practises needn't and must.
Page 41 includes must and needn't but also revises some other constructions.

Speech Guide

See that the pupils pronounce the final letter t in must. This is easier when the next word begins with a vowel because the two words are almost joined together: Must I …, Must Anjum …
See that the pupils sound the final letter \( t \) in some of the words in Exercise 7: \( \text{against, cost} \).

In next to there is only a very small pause between the letter \( t \) at the end of next and the \( t \) at the beginning of to. They are spoken almost as one letter.

Teaching Notes

Work Exercises 3a orally. Then give the pupils individual practice in replying to remarks made by the teacher like these:

Teacher:  I was early yesterday.
Pupil A:   So was I.
Teacher:  I went to the cinema last night.
Pupil B:   So did I.
Teacher:  I like oranges.
Pupil C:   So do I.

Deal with Exercise 3b in the same way.

Teacher:  I haven't any money.
Pupil A:   Neither have I.
Teacher:  I didn't go out last night.
Pupil B:   Neither did I.
Teacher:  I do not like music.
Pupil C:   Neither do I.

Work Exercise 4 orally. It may also be used as written work if time permits but note that the workbook also gives written practice.

CHAPTER 21  Pages 92-95

Language Structure

I did it myself, etc.

New Words

admit, among, arrange, arrival, dismiss, dumb, fairly, fear, fit, follow, fond, helpful, interested, invite, knot, mind, silently, useful.

Teaching Notes

The words myself, herself, etc, which are practised in this chapter have the same forms as the ones in the last chapter, but they have a different use. In Chapter 22 they are used as ‘reflexive pronouns’: the subject of the sentence performs the action upon myself, herself, etc. In Chapter 21 they are used as ‘emphatic pronouns’: they emphasize that the action applies to the subject and not to any one else.

The position of emphatic pronouns may vary. Emphatic pronouns may be placed at the ends of sentences, as in Exercise 2, or they may be placed immediately after the subject. Exercise 3 practises both positions. The teacher may demonstrate and practise the use of emphatic pronouns by means of conversations like these:

Teacher to Pupil: Please close the window.
Pupil: I’ve closed the window.
Teacher: Did anyone help you to close the window?
Pupil: No, I closed it myself.

Work Exercises 2 to 4 orally.

Workbook 5 Pages 47-48

Please note that Page 47 practises the use of emphatic pronouns but Page 48 includes both emphatic and reflexive pronouns.

Speech Guide

Notice that the main stress usually falls on the emphatic pronoun wherever it occurs:

*He does it *himself.

He himself does it.

Language Structure
Present perfect continuous tense

New Words
attend, bedroom, delay, demand, direct, division, excuse, fortunate, friendly, gentleman, hall, heaven, kindly, owner, polish, pond, relative, sore, squeak, worry, yawn.

Teaching Notes
Demonstrate and practise the use of the present perfect continuous tense using sentences like these:

When did we begin reading?
We began reading half an hour ago.
How long have we been reading?
We have been reading for half an hour.
When did we begin reading?
We began reading at ten o’clock.

How long have we been reading?
We have been reading since ten o’clock.

Work Exercise 2 orally. Then ask the pupils to compose their own sentences using phrases like living in Islamabad, living in my flat, going to school, learning English, using this book. First make up sentences using for, then use since.

I have been living in my flat for two years.
I have been living in my flat since 2005.

Then work Exercises 3 and 4 orally.

Workbook 5
Pages 49-51
Page 49 practises the present perfect continuous tense and Pages 50 and 51 are general revision.

CHAPTER 23   Pages 100-103

Language Structure

New Words
   complain, deserve, gods, mad, pale, pardon, surprising, thankfully.
Teaching Notes

Practise questions and answers like those in Exercise 2 using first the picture on Page 102. Then give more practice using phrases like:

- on the blackboard.
- on the desk.
- in your desk, etc.

Continue this practice until the pupils are able to use both questions and answers without any help from the teacher. Then work Exercise 3 orally. It might also be used for written practice if time permits, but there is more written practice in the workbook.

Workbook 5

Page 52 gives written practice using else. Page 53 is general revision.

Speech Guide
